Swimming Pool

Race Track Aided in War Emergency

As you noted in yesterday's news columns Hope has obtained state-wide recognition for its municipal swimming pool with a favorable story and pictures in the annual report of the Arkansas State Board of Health.

Some of our home folks may have thought the city was being a little extravagant when it built the pool as large as it did. But by now it's pretty generally agreed it is no larger than necessary.

The state report carries pictures and data on various pools, and it turns out that while Hope built one of 250,000 gallons capacity Jonesboro constructed a pool of 400,000 gallons — and while Jonesboro is a larger town, still our city is more or less in the same class.

Most damaging charge that has come out of the current flurry of war scandals in Washington is that Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, intended for some friends who were seeking to get scarce materials to build a California race track — while the country was yet at war.

Our English friends take racing and other forms of gambling pretty much in stride, whether a war or peace — but most Americans will feel indignant that a race track was helped at a time when householders and businesses were forbidden to either build or do much remodeling.

Once more we are being given an inside look on what happens in government when its activities are enormously expanded and executive and legislative authority is delegated to bureaus.

We don't know yet whether anyone is actually guilty according to the legal code — but certainly the experience teaches us the dangers that lie ahead should we permit such wartime bureaucratic setup into peace time.

Tribute Is Paid to Hoover

Stanford University, Calif., Aug. 10 —(AP)—Herbert Clark Hoover is 75 years old today, and tributes for the country's only living ex-president poured in from all over the world.

Late in the day Stanford will honor its most illustrious graduate in the First Amphitheater. A crowd of 12,000 to 14,000 was expected.

The program will be climaxed by a major address by Mr. Hoover, beginning at 5 p. m., PST (7 p. m., CST). His topic will be "Think of the Next Generation."

Even Mr. Hoover, who once said "I have had every honor to which any man could aspire," probably was surprised by the stir created by his birthday anniversary and by the congratulatory letters by the thousands.

Two states, Arkansas and Maryland, proclaimed today "Hoover day." Governor Earl Warren of California issued a proclamation in which he said: "Few men anywhere have been more useful to their country and to the world."

Personal congratulations were sent by the governors of Idaho, Alabama, Virginia, South Dakota, Kansas, New York and Washington.

Mr. Hoover, born in Iowa and a member of the first graduating class of Leland Stanford university, was the 30th president of the United States—from 1929 to 1933.

At 75 he is, as always, a hard worker, usually putting in a 16-hour day.

After World War II President Truman sent him on a tour to determine the world's desperate food needs.

And in 1947, Mr. Truman named the former president to head the commission on organization of the executive branch of the government.

whimsical type of humor, as exhibited in some of his recent speeches, has helped somewhat to dispel the rather general impression that Mr. Hoover is a dour man.

Discussing the Hoover commission report recently, he told of the little girl writing her thanks to a man who had sent her a book about pelicans. "This is indeed a very interesting thing," the girl wrote. "It contains more about pelicans than I really need to know."

"That," commented Mr. Hoover, "is the feeling of the commission at the present moment" after 18 months of work on its report.

Mr. Hoover's wife, was Lou Henry, a classmate at Stanford. She died several years ago. He has been visiting with his sons, Herbert Jr., and Alan, and their families in Southern California.

Father Lauro to Be at Hope Church for Three Weeks

Father Joseph W. Lauro, who flew two flags during the last war and who is the first GI of the war to become a Catholic Priest in the U. S., will replace Father A. G. Dunleavy at Our Lady of Good Hope Catholic church here for the next three weeks. Father Lauro was just recently ordained.

WEATHER FORECAST

Arkansas: Cloudy this afternoon; tonight, thunder showers; not much change in temperatures.

Tells Probers Vaughan Pushed Race Track Deal

Washington, Aug. 10 —(AP)—Housing administrator H. B. Woods said today he recalls that Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan asked him to "hurry" along a construction permit for the Tanforan race track.

Woods told a senate investigation today that Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, came to his office Jan. 12, 1948, to make the plan. He said Vaughan was accompanied by Eugene Mori of Camden, N. J., listed as Tanforan's president.

Woods previously had told the subcommittee only of being called to the White House Jan. 9 last year by Vaughan to discuss the Tanforan matter. He quoted Vaughan as telling him at the White House meeting that "some of my friends were interested in the case."

Woods said that at the meeting three days later he believed that Vaughan asked him to "please hurry" along the permit because there was "something" before the California Race Track commission which would make Tanforan lose its franchise if the construction work could not proceed.

Woods set letters to the justice department the next day urging modification of a court order issued against the former owners of the track to stop construction.

Meanwhile, the White House again said Vaughan had testified in the committee's so-called "five percent" inquiry if the senators want him to do so.

Presidential Secretary Charles E. Anderson said he had "no comment" concerning the testimony of Vaughan's name with the Tanforan race track matter.

When a reporter recalled that the President told a recent news conference that Vaughan has his permission to testify, Ross said that "still applies."

Committee Chairman Hoyer (D-NC) said his group is especially interested in getting all the details as to why the Tanforan track finally got government blessing for the construction after approval had been denied repeatedly.

Amateur Models to Be Used in Show

Hope's amateur models will display near professional talents in the first rehearsal this morning at the Scaenger in preparation for the big fall fashion show August 24 to 25 at the Scaenger theatre in Hope.

The style show is a project of the B & P W club and is under the direction of Miss Dorothy Henry and is made possible through the cooperation of some of the wearing apparel merchants of Hope and of the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Foy Hammons, president of B & P W club, says that the club is extremely interested in making this one of the best fashion shows ever presented in Hope.

The models who will start rehearsal were chosen by a secret committee appointed by Mrs. Foy Hammons. The schedule of today's rehearsal will be as follows: 9:30 a. m., matrons rehearsal, 10 a. m., matrons rehearsal, and 10:30 rehearsal for children.

Male models will hold their first rehearsal at 7 p. m. in the Municipal auditorium at the City Hall.

A.M.E. Church District Meeting Here

Bethel A.M.E. church of Hope will be host to the Prescott District Sunday School League and Missionary Convention with the Rev. T. O. Crutcher presiding, local pastor, G. Paschal, announced today.

The meet opened at 10 a. m. and will continue through Sunday. Emphasis is being placed on evangelism work, the home, foreign missionary work and religious education.

The Rev. Crutcher will conduct the day's discussion. The public is invited.

Visitors Amazed at Modern New Ladies Specialty Shop Which Reopened Here Today

Mike Kelly reopened a completely new Ladies Specialty Shop at 10 a. m. this morning and the classy modernistic store drew "ohs and ahs" from the milling crowd of ladies and a man or so here and there.

Mayor Lyle Brown formerly opened the store by cutting a ribbon from across the doorway. He was introduced by Mr. Kelly. The "offie affair" was broadcast over KXAR with George Frazier announcing.

Then the long line of visitors started filing in. They were greeted at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and in different departments by the establishment's personnel. Many of the visitors were asked to tell the radio audience what they thought of Hope's newest store and the remarks varied from "perfectly beautiful" to "out of this world."

Post Office Robber Is Captured

Van Buren, Aug. 10 —(AP)—A brief flurry of shots last night ended the long flight of elusive Roy Kimes, 30-year-old Crawford county farmer wanted on post office burglary charges.

Kimes, object of a widespread manhunt through this mountainous section three months ago, was captured by four officers, Sheriff L. C. Moore, two of his deputies and postal Inspector Larry O'Dell.

He was surrounded at his father's home near Rudy, Ark., about ten miles north of here. Sheriff Moore said Kimes ran out of the house with a shotgun, but quickly gave up when officers fired several shots.

A warrant had been issued charging Kimes with burglary of a post office at Chester, Ark., and officers wanted to question him about similar burglaries at Rudy, Winslow, Natural Dam, Cedarville and Dutch Mills, Ark.

Sheriff Moore said Kimes admitted the Chester burglary but denied taking part in the others. The sheriff also said a man, he did not identify, believed to be an accomplice of Kimes, was arrested a few hours earlier at Cedarville.

Stock Market Tilts Slightly Upward

New York, Aug. 10 —(AP)—Shaking itself loose from a mixed picture, the stock market today tilted slightly higher.

Although the gains were in fractions, a few stocks here and there ran up as much as a point at times.

There was little steam behind the movement, but trading continued at a moderate pace.

SS Representative to Be in Hope Tuesday

A representative of the Texas-Kansas Social Security administration office will be in Hope on Tuesday, August 10 at 2 p. m. He will be at the Arkansas Employment office.

Big Doings at Negro Park Tonight, Sunday

Another "big" night is planned at the Hope Negro park tonight with boxing, barbecue and fun for all the family. Admission is free.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Hope Regulars will tangle with the Camden Monarchs in what promises to be a hard fought ball game. The public is invited.

Scientists to Search Out 'Haunts'

Washington, Aug. 10 —(UP)—The strange case of a 14-year-old "haunted boy" who has been harassed by unseen forces was being investigated here today by scientists who specialize in psychic phenomena.

The boy's trouble was revealed by Richard C. Darnell, president of the society for parapsychology who said the story was given $50 to the society by a Washington clergyman.

Darnell said Dr. J. B. Rhine, director of Duke university's parapsychology laboratory considers the case "one of the most impressive that has come to his attention."

Here is the clergyman's tale, as relayed by Darnell:

"The boy's parents, residents of Washington, are members of his congregation. They came to him and explained their son was extremely troubled by unexplained scratches on the walls and ceilings—scratches which seem to follow the lad about. They said that at night his bed has been shaken so violently that at times he has been unable to get to sleep until 3 or 4 a. m."

At first, the clergyman urged the family to let their son spend a night at his parsonage so that he could study the phenomena a first hand. They agreed.

When the boy first retired in the minister's home, sure enough, he was unable to sleep. The lad then got up and sat in a large, heavy arm chair with his knees drawn up under his chin.

As the clergyman watched, the chair tilted over at a sharp angle, throwing the boy to the floor. The minister then assumed the same sitting position as had the boy. Although he tried with all his strength, he could not budge the chair.

Young Cancer Victim Said to Be Resting

New York, Aug. 10 —(UP)—Janice Medders, five-year-old cancer victim, rested today at Memorial hospital where she was taken for special treatment after a mercy flight from Anniston, Ala.

Janice, suffering from a form of muscle cancer that spreads through the blood, arrived by plane last night accompanied by her mother, M. Medders, a garage mechanic. Their trip was financed by a fund-raising appeal in her home town in the hope that special treatment here might save her life.

The start of her air journey was delayed yesterday by a take-off crash. All aboard escaped injury and the girl and her father were transferred to a second plane.

U. S. Tackles Anew the Far East Problem

By The Associated Press

The United States government tackled anew today the problem of working out a new policy for the Far East.

Ambassador to China J. Leighton Stuart was reporting to President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson on the complex situation resulting from the communist rout of Chinese nationalist armies.

His report coincided with Canton dispatches which said the communists were throwing fresh forces into drives toward the nationalist provisional capital. Nationalists fled Kaihsien, Kiangsi province, only 215 miles from Canton.

Acheson went before a secret session of the house foreign affairs committee to discuss his program for working out a new approach. His department in a white paper last week wrote off aid to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's nationalists as a costly failure.

A new policy planning group, headed by Ambassador-at-large Philip C. Jessup, was reported already to start a broad survey of the problems facing the U. S. in China and elsewhere in the Far East.

Acheson and his aides withheld official comment on the appearance before congress yesterday of Elpidio Quirino, president of the Philippines. The island leader called for at least moral support from the U. S. for a new Pacific anti-communist pact proposed recently by Quirino and Chiang.

Acheson said he was "pleased" that Australia would welcome creation of a Far East alliance similar to the Atlantic pact.

British Killer Pays Price for 9 Murders

London, Aug. 10 —(UP)—John George Haigh, 40, the bloodiest and calmest killer known to 20th century England, was hanged at Wandsworth prison today to pay for one of the nine murders he claimed he committed.

Dapper and smiling to the end, Haigh walked to the gallows at 11 a. m. while a crowd of 700 curbside onlookers gathered outside the prison walls. In keeping with British procedure, there were none but Britishers in the press box.

A few minutes before the execution a post office messenger in a blue uniform arrived at the prison with a telegram addressed to Haigh.

Contents of the message, and its sender, were unknown. Observers speculated it may have been from the mysterious woman who was leaving from the court room when sentence was pronounced and who visited him in the final hours before he went to the gallows.

The crowd remained orderly and there was no disturbance when Haigh's epitaph in the form of two official notices was posted on the prison gates at eight minutes after 9 a. m.

The first notice, signed by the prison governor, Sussex Sheriff Stephen Denbigh and Prison Governor Maj. A. C. S. N. Denke, said only that the sentence had been carried out.

The second notice, signed by the prison governor, said Haigh was dead.

Haigh was 40 years old when he was hanged. He had been in the prison since 1935, after being convicted of the murder of his wife, Patricia, and their offspring. It has gone on so long it makes "Abie's Irish Rose" seem like a one-night stand and "Show Boat" like a long-term affair.

Says Congress Will Consider Program's Merit

Fayetteville, Aug. 10 —(UP)—A Fayetteville resident believes congress will consider the farm program on merit alone.

Roger Thompson, director of the federal farm program office here, said he had just received word from the U. S. Department of Agriculture that the program would be considered on its merits.

A banquet session of the Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation's 40th annual convention, which opened last night at the Fort Smith Hotel, C. F. Byrns, National Vice-President, R. E. Short, Bradley, Ark., was to be a speaker today.

Johnson Gives Nod to Arms Contract Plan

Washington, Aug. 10 —(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson told senators today the military department is willing to accept 60 per cent in cash and 40 per cent in contract authority to launch President Truman's arms program.

It is agreeable to the military, he said, to spread the cost of the $1,450,000,000 program over two or even three years.

America's three top military men—the joint chiefs of staff—waited for Johnson to conclude his testimony before they made their report to the senate foreign relations and armed services committees.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) yesterday proposed a 50-50 split in the cash and contract authority to carry out the re-arming of the North Atlantic pact nations.

But Johnson said his staff has advised him that 60 per cent of the $1,450,000,000 for western Europe must be in cash. The remainder can be in authority to make contracts which will be paid for in cash later, he said.

Senator Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked Johnson if this authority would mean a firm contract to be paid for in fiscal 1951-52. Johnson replied it would be.

Saltonstall asked if the re-arming of Europe will mean any reduction in the U. S. defense program.

After Johnson had completed his testimony, Gen. Omar Omar Bradley, army chief of staff, took over. He said that if the American people want to see the advantage gained in the "cold war," they must move quickly at establishing a long range plan of defense.

Bradley and the military heads of the navy and air force, Admiral Louis Denfield and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, have just returned from a 10-day trip to Europe where they conferred with military chiefs of Atlantic pact nations. They confined their discussions to problems of organization.

Bradley said the five nations — Britain, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, France and Belgium — which signed the Western union pact "are the nucleus of resistance on which any North Atlantic defense plans must be based."

"Your joint chiefs of staff have examined the defense concept of the Western union and have found that it is in accordance with our own thinking," he said.

Bradley said no longer can the U. S. go alone in its military planning.

"Exhaustion of our moral and material resources would be the result," he said. "For that reason, the joint chiefs of staff urge the enactment of this legislation."

Bradley vigorously opposed any reduction in the proposed amount. He said every item in the bill had been carefully considered, and had been found essential.

The tide of communism is being stemmed in Europe, he declared, and added:

"We are not impelled by crisis, or desperation, or fear of impending war."

Bradley said that if there were such a crisis he would recommend "Adm I am sure you would insist upon" for a greater effort than is called for in his program.

Much of the discussion has dealt with a plan that Vandenberg, the Republicans' top man in foreign affairs, thinks may make the foreign arms program more acceptable to congress.

Morse Is Better Known for His Skill at Typewriter Than His Skill With Skillet

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP)—Carlton E. Morse is a pleasant, balding man of 48 who bakes his own bread. He also eats steak and potatoes for breakfast and seven days a week — and believes he makes the best apple pie in America.

"It's an apple pie with pears in it—and a little dash of rum," he explained.

Morse is better known for his skill at the typewriter, however, than his skill with the skillet. Since 1929 he has turned out 20,000,000 words of radio drama.

His most durable broadcaster has been "One Man's Family," a weekly NBC half-hour program he has written, produced and directed for 18 continuous years. Morse believes this is a record for this type of dramatic serial.

The program is the trial tribulations, and victories of an American family — Henry Barbour, a retired stockbroker, his wife, Fanny, and their offspring. It has gone on so long it makes "Abie's Irish Rose" seem like a one-night stand and "Show Boat" like a long-term affair.

"When I started there were only seven characters," said Morse. "Now there are 13 active characters, and I'm in the third generation of the family."

He is proud he is one of the seven actors who appeared on the first broadcast of the program still play their original roles. Members of the live cast have had a total of 22 children during the 18 years. Morse and his wife, Patricia, are children.

"The program is really an idealization of my husband's own family," said Mrs. Morse. His father and mother are a wonderful couple. They just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary."

Morse rises every morning at 6:30 and cooks breakfast. By seven he is at his typewriter. He is a swift writer. By 9:30 he has finished his story for the day.

He takes him two mornings to write the weekly program, and his mythical family as grown so large he needs a chart now to keep the relations straight.

His listeners take the Barbour family very seriously.

"Four years ago I killed off one of the characters in an auto accident," Morse said, "since death must come to every family. But I didn't know how to handle it. I was so upset, I wrote and protested. Some said they would never listen to the program again."

Since then he has kept his characters alive and talking. They grow older, and ordinary people do, and one of his biggest problems came when all his characters were married.

"There was a little slump there," he admitted, "until the family grew up, and created some new love interest."

"My wife is the best critic of my writing. She can tell when I'm off the track better than anybody."

In his spare time Morse collects old silver and glass. Food is his hobby. When he and his wife came here to prepare "One Man's Family" for television presentation this fall, they brought along their own pots and pans.

Morse has two bottles of 1805 Napoleon brandy in his West coast home and doesn't know just what to do with the bottles, which cost $150 apiece.

"I keep them in a safe," he said. "Maybe if there's an occasion big enough I'd like to open one to celebrate. But the other one I don't think I'd ever want to open."

"But they're evaporating," smiled Mrs. Morse.

"Yes," sighed her husband. "About two teaspoonfuls every ten years."

15 Persons Die in Indiana Bus Accident

To Speak Here Victims Perish as Fire Guts Wreckage

J. F. Tuohy

"Big Business Sings". That is the title of an address to be delivered to the Hope Chamber of Commerce Tuesday, August 16, by J. F. Tuohy of the Arkansas Power & Light Co. It was announced today by Lyle Brown, chairman of the Hope Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Tuohy is well known to many of Hope's citizens, having conducted the series of community development clinics which were sponsored by Hope Chamber of Commerce last February.

Mr. Tuohy has spent over 18 years in public service in one type or another. Mr. Tuohy is head of the Arkansas Power & Light Company's community development department. He is one of two men whose entire time is spent working on the "Build Your Own Home Town" program. Aimed at building community facilities with home town know-how and capital, community development is a joint project of business and government in Arkansas.

Little did Bub Tuohy know that his field of endeavor would be community development when he became a substation operator for Arkansas Power & Light Company in 1931. He had been graduated by the University of Arkansas with a degree in engineering. He advanced through job after job, becoming a foreman, meterman, power house clerk, and engineer before assignment to the sales department in 1937. He worked as commercial and residential sales manager, and had become a sales promotion manager before called to active duty by the army in 1942.

Mr. Tuohy's military career began as a National Guardsman, and he was commissioned after university. He entered World War II as a captain and was released to inactive duty in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant colonel. During four years of wartime service, Lt. Colonel Tuohy continued power operations as chief of the Utilities branch at Pine Bluff arsenal.

For many years he has been an active member of the Rotary club, at Pine Bluff before and during the war, and more lately at Little Rock.

15 Persons Die in Indiana Bus Accident

To Speak Here Victims Perish as Fire Guts Wreckage

Bloomington, Ind., Aug. 10 —(AP)—Fifteen persons died in the flaming wreckage of a Greyhound bus that burned after crashing into a bridge abutment near here early today.

The bus, bound from Indianapolis to Bloomington, hit the bridge on a winding, hilly road shortly after midnight. Seconds later it was in flames.

Cornel Robert W. Lyons of Monroe county said the task of identifying the dead would be difficult as all bodies were "almost consumed by the flames."

"Two of the dead were believed to be Charles Ellenbrook, 70, of Evansville, Ind., and his 67-year-old wife."

The son, Billy Ellenbrook, who survived the crash, said his parents were on the bus and were rapped.

The bodies were not recovered until long after daylight.

After an examination of the bodies, the coroner said eight of the victims were women, four were men and two were children. The sex of the fifteenth victim could not be determined immediately. Twelve injured were taken to a Bloomington hospital.

The coroner identified one of the women through a personal bill fold found on her lap as Mrs. Dale Ellenbrook of Evansville, Ind. Her husband, Dale Allenbrook, was killed at Camp Campbell, Ky., was burned severely.

The coroner said the bodies of the two children found in the seat with Mrs. Allenbrook and presumably were her daughter and son, 7 and 4 years old, were brought to the hospital attendants his wife and two children were aboard the bus.

Positive identification of the bodies of Charles Ellenbrook was made later by three sons.

The bodies removed from the bus were placed in six ambulances and a hearse and accompanied by a police escort out the front door. The Indiana National Guard armory here to await identification.

Driver Wayne Cramer of Indianapolis, one of the survivors, said a front tire may have blown out, causing him to lose control. The bus, after striking the abutment, skidded 150 feet down winding highway 37 and came to rest on its left side, blocking the emergency door.

Flames enveloped the vehicle almost immediately. The driver said he and "two or three" passengers got out the front door. The other survivors escaped through a rear window which a passenger kicked out.

A Greyhound spokesman in Indianapolis, who declined to permit use of his name, confirmed that there had been 37 passengers on the bus when it left Indianapolis for Bloomington.

Glen Van Horn, manager of radio station WTTS in Bloomington, said one of the survivors told him he "walked through five feet of flames" to get off the bus.

The survivor, Wells Richardson, 16, of Evansville, Ind., told Van Horn he was dozing when the bus struck the bridge abutment.

Van Horn said Edgar Davis of Indianapolis, a Negro, was credited by other survivors with kicking out a rear window, through which most of the survivors escaped. Davis suffered a back injury and was brought to the Bloomington hospital.

Legion to Help Vets Fill Out Forms

Joe Jones, commander of Leslie Huddleston Post No. 12 of the American Legion, has announced that arrangements are being made to assist veterans in Hope and Hempstead county to apply for their National Service Life Insurance premium refund.

Veterans of World War II who had NSLI in force for ninety days or longer while in service may have a premium refund coming. The amount of refund depends on the amount of premiums paid. The Veterans Administration states that the average payment will amount to about $175. There will, of course, be some larger payments and some smaller.

Two locations in the business district of Hope where veterans can get the needed assistance in filling out the necessary forms. There will probably be at least one place conveniently located to assist Negro veterans in this matter.

A more definite announcement will be made prior to the first date for filing which is August 20, 1949. There is no time limit for making out but the $250 refund is administered by the Veterans Administration.

World War II service men and women file as soon as possible after the initial date.

Fair Enough

New York, Aug. 9 — It happens that I have known John Maragon, the Greek bootblack, as the Washington dispatches seldom fail to call him, for about 25 years. I think this mention of the fact that he was a bootblack in Kansas City, when Kansas City was a very tough town as any alumnus of the Kansas City Star will tell you, has been a touch supercilious. It is as though bootblacks were akin to burglars. It isn't, necessarily. I get bored by the pretentious rough-diamond affectations of men who were newboys long ago and came on to ride in chaises. I mean such as telling Palm Beach ladies that he once lived in the Brance Newboys' home but forgot to say that he was just a little tramp and sleepout mother's virtuous roof on the West Side. I sold papers, too. What of it? Everybody did, but it didn't mean that we were homeless urchins. We liked to work street cars and public houses. It was a form of public life.

PROPOSED BUDGET OF RECEIPTS AND EXPENDITURES FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1949-50 AND 1950-51 TOGETHER WITH THE TAX LEVY FOR THE FISCAL YEAR 1950-51, AND INCLUDING JUNE 30, 1951

The Board of Directors of Hope School District 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas, in compliance with the requirements of Amendment No. 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, adopted November 2, 1948, have prepared, approved, and hereby make public the budget of receipts and expenditures together with the tax rate as follows:

Receipts:	1949-50	1950-51
1. Approximate balance as of June 30 (Including Operating, Salary, and Debt Service Fund)
2. Local Revenue
a. Net local tax 18 mills (95% col.)	86,103	86,103
b. Delinquent personal tax and land redemption	500	500
c. City of Hope, veterans program, transfers from other districts, etc.	17,500	15,000
Total Local Revenue	$104,103	$101,603
3. State Revenue
a. State Apportionment (2030)	$ 43,596	$ 37,037*
b. State Teachers' Salary Aid	94,864	90,634*
c. Transportation Fund	20,312	17,265*
d. Vocational Funds	8,500	7,225*
Total State Revenue	$167,272	$142,161
GRAND TOTAL Local and State Receipts Plus Cash Balance	$278,875	$243,764

Expenditures:	1949-50	1950-51
A. General Control (Administrator's salary, salary of clerical assistants, expense of election, office, teaching supplies, other expense of instruction)	$ 9,900	$ 9,900
B. Instruction (Salary of principals, supervisors, and teachers on professional days, sick leave)	170,400	170,400
C. Operation of Plant (Wages of janitors, matrons, other operating expense, fuel, janitor supplies, etc.)	17,500	17,500
D. Maintenance of School Plant & Equipment (repairs on building and grounds)	8,000	8,000
E. Auxiliary Agencies (transportation, health work)	22,100	22,100
F. Fixed Charges (insurance, etc.)	3,000	3,000
G. Capital Outlay (additions and alterations, new bus, bus loan payment)	7,925	5,500
H. Debt Service (principal and interest on bonds, commercial and revolving loan payment)	37,000	37,000
Total Expenditures	$275,825	$273,400

To provide for the foregoing proposed budget of receipts and expenditures the Board of Directors proposes a tax levy of 18 mills. This tax levy includes the present continuing levy of 7 1/2 mills for the retirement of the 1948 assessed valuation of $5,035,275. For the school year 1950-51, the same assessed valuation is figured in determining the net local tax of 18 mills, 85% collection, on the 1948 assessed valuation as it is impossible at this time to determine what increase we will have in the 1949 assessment over the 1948 assessment. Unless the assessed valuation in 1949 is increased approximately $1,750,000 this District will have a deficit of $29,616 for the school year 1950-51 because state revenue will be reduced 15% as shown in the above figures under state revenue for the school year 1950-51. This District is not raising its millage at the annual school election on September 27, 1949. Therefore, the Board of Education is depending upon an equalization and increase of assessments to offset the loss of state and local revenue for the school year 1950-51. This will be necessary if the Hope School District is to maintain the school program in 1950-51 that would be on a par with the school year 1949-50.

We sincerely hope that all tax payers of Hope School District will see that their real and personal property is assessed at 30% normal market value and will make their wishes known to the Equalization Board when it meets in August.

Pulaski Is Considering 'Floggings'

Little Rock, Aug. 9 — (UP) — Whether flogging shall be continued as a form of punishment for recalcitrant prisoners in Pulaski county probably will be decided by a grand jury report due here Friday.

The jurors yesterday completed a two-day hearing of the circumstances surrounding the death of Richard Clift, 30-year-old Malvern war veteran, who died after being whipped at the county farm. Farm Superintendent W. T. Morgan, who resigned when the furor over Clift's death became statewide, said he gave the veteran seven lashes when Clift refused to work in the fields.

Pulaski Coroner Howard A. Dishongh said Clift died of heat exhaustion and that the whipping was not a contributory cause. Another physician said the veteran died of sunstroke. At Hot Springs Dr. C. D. Lee, pathologist, performed an autopsy and said the results were inconclusive and that four to six weeks would be required for microscopic examination of tissues from Clift's exhumed body.

The investigation, spearheaded by Pulaski Prosecuting Attorney Edwin E. Dunaway, grew into a sweeping probe of the conduct of the county farm, where prisoners are sent to work out fines or serve short sentences.

Penal farm officials have defended corporal punishment with the explanation that they have no other means of enforcing discipline. In his resignation, Morgan stated that his successor would be found in the "same position" unless more money was put up for running the farm.

Grasshopper Proves Not So Comical

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 9 — (AP) — A trick picture of a mammoth Star printed yesterday wasn't nearly as comical as staff members thought it would be.

The newspaper is begging forgiveness of its readers today and says it "regrets" frivolous toying with the truth.

The trick picture was made by Velde Johnson, Jr., an amateur photographer. It made the grasshopper appear to be as large as a haystack on which it was riding.

The humorous caption for the picture said the "hopper later was seen heading southward in 100 yard leaps."

Shortly after the paper appeared on the streets, the Star's telephones were swamped with calls. Peorians wanted to know more details of the giant "hopper. One reader indignantly said it should have been shot.

A mother called the picture "terrible" and told the newspaper that it had shocked her children.

No Influence in Plane Order Says Lovett

Washington, Aug. 9 — (UP) — Robert A. Lovett, wartime assistant secretary of war for air, told congress today there was "absolutely" no evidence of political influence behind original orders for the B-36 super bomber in 1941.

Lovett was the first witness before the house armed services committee's investigation of the mammoth strategic bomber. The inquiry stemmed from reports of politics and connivance repeated in the house by Rep. James E. Van Zandt, (R-Pa.).

Lovett, who became undersecretary of state after the war, told the committee that the perilous military situation facing the U.S. after the fall of France required development of a bomber capable of flying 10,000 miles with a five-ton bomb load.

He said the decision to buy two experimental planes, designated B-36, from the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. was made by the war department in August, 1941, after a study of designs submitted by Consolidated, Boeing Airplane Co., and Douglas Aircraft Co.

Committee Counsel Joseph B. Keenan asked Lovett whether he ever saw "any evidence of influence by bankers, industrialists, Mr. (Floyd) Odlum, or Victor Krummelt" behind the war department decision.

"Absolutely not," Lovett replied. He said at that time he had never heard of Odlum, the millionaire head of the Atlas Corp., which took control of Consolidated in November, 1947.

He said his dealings were with Maj. Reuben Fleet, president and owner of Consolidated at the time, and that he had no personal acquaintance with Odlum.

Odlum's name, as a Democratic campaign contributor and B-36 manufacturer, had been emphasized by Van Zandt in his house speech.

Lovett said a strategic plan was developed and approved by then Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson calling in April, 1941, for design of a bomber able to strike Germany even if Britain should fail and advanced bases be lost.

Four months before Pearl Harbor, the B-36 order resulted from these studies, he said. The plans were approved by then Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson and Stimson, Lovett said.

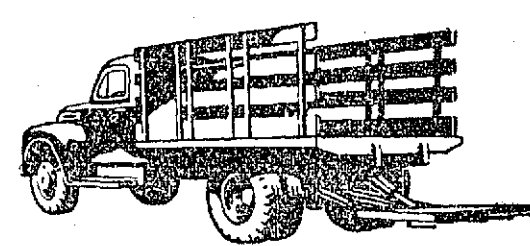

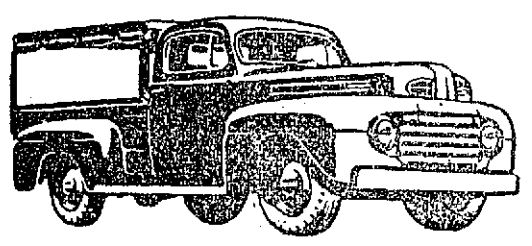

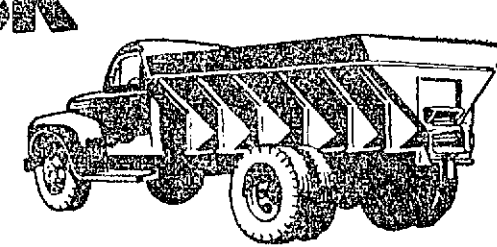

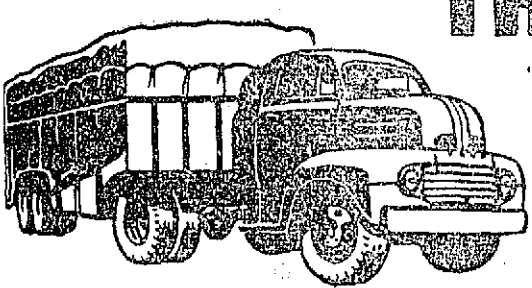

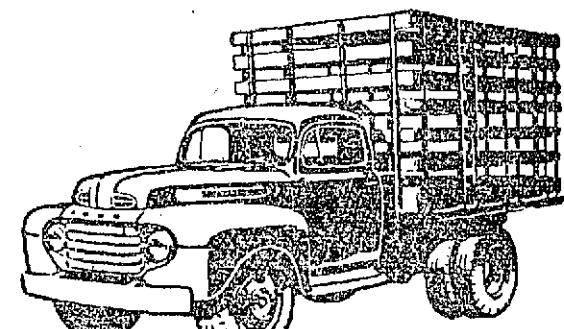

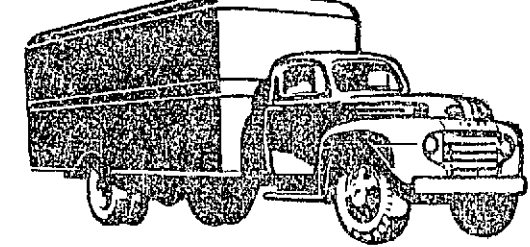

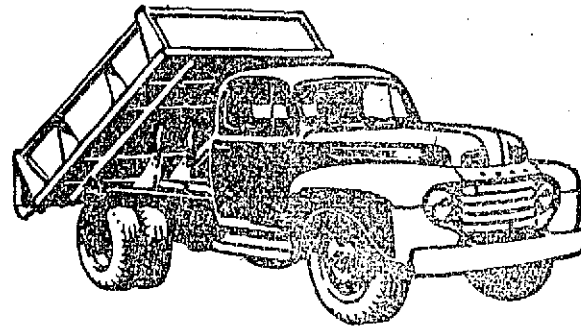

Old Main to Get a Face Lifting

Fayetteville, Aug. 9 — (AP) — "Old Main" historic nerve center of the University of Arkansas will get a "face lifting" shortly.

The huge main building—built in 1875—is to undergo complete renovation this fall.

The Carlson university vice-president for finance, announced today that bids for the remodeling of the structure will be opened at 1:30 p. m. Thursday, August 25.

Carlsons said the modernization will cost approximately $150,000.
